BLAKE DENIES WIFE'S CHARGES

Surgeon Asks Dismissal of Divorce Suit as Non-Resident of State.

New York, Nov. 17.—Dr. Joseph A. Blake, an eminent surgeon, filed this afternoon his answer to the suit for separation brought by his wife, Mrs. Katherine J. Blake.

All of Mrs. Blake's charges of desertion and non-support, are denied. The answers admit, however, that Dr. Blake was contributing nothing to his wife's support since August 1 of this year. Dr. Blake denies that he is a resident of this state, and asks that the suit be dismissed.

The suit for separation is the second one filed recently by Mrs. Blake. The first was brought against Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay for $1,000,000 for alleged alienation of Dr. Blake's affections. This suit was withdrawn a week ago. In the present suit Mrs. Blake charges long continued desertion and non-support.

BOLD HOLD UP OF PAYMASTER

One Highwayman Fires at American Optical Official While Other Grabs Bag and Both Make Their Getaway

Southbridge, Nov. 17.—One of the boldest highway robberies that has occurred in this section for many years took place here this afternoon in the yard of the American Optical Company.

Paymaster Robert Dwyer, accompanied by Pendergast, left the main building of the company on Mechanic street, when they were held up by two men at the point of a revolver. One of the robbers fired at Dwyer, who was hit in the arm. The other grabbed a bag containing $2,000 and fled. Dwyer and Pendergast escaped.

LEAVES BEQUEST FOR LIBRARY

Will of Late Principal Amen Probated at Special Session at Exeter.

At a special session of probate court held at Exeter on Monday by Judge Louis G. Hoyt of Kingston, the will of Harlan P. Amen, late Principal of Phillips Exeter Academy was approved.

The testator gives to the trustees of the academy to be prudently invested until it shall have acquired the sum of $25,000, one half of the income to be used for the purchase of books and the other to be added to the principal. The books are to be known as the Mary Rawson Amen Collection in memory of his wife.

When the sum reaches $10,000 the trustees are authorized to purchase pictures and works of art for a room for the books; $3000 to be bequeathed to the Phillips church, and $2000 to the Exeter Cottage Hospital.

About 400 volumes including his library are given to the Davis Library to be known as the Mary Rawson Amen Collection, in memory of his wife.

The will was dated January 30, 1906, and names Irving Elling of Brookline, Mass., as executor, and Professor J. A. Tutts of the academy faculty as agent. In addition to the public bequests there are several private ones.

FLEET MAY BE SENT TO MEXICO

Arrangements Said to be to Reach Admiral Bauger as Vessels are on their Return Journey From Europe

Washington, Nov. 17.—The President was not at all amused by reports that Mr. O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, was about to quit Mexico City, and it was stated that no orders had been given either to Mr. O'Shaughnessy or John Lind, at Vera Cruz, to leave Mexico. Rumors that the American embassy would be closed within 48 hours were characterized in official sources as "fakes."

The President, it is said, is confident that the financial boycott of the Huerta regime by the United States and the great powers will be a powerful factor in bringing about the end of Huerta.

In discussing the persistent rumors that Charge O'Shaughnessy was about to take his departure, leaving the American embassy's records in the care of one of the ministers representing the foreign powers, Secretary Bryan stated flatly that neither the charge nor Mr. Lind had any conditional instructions and intimated that both were acting under precise instructions from Washington in every step in the negotiations.

Secretary Bryan has been informed by Mr. O'Shaughnessy of the resignation of Manuel Garza Aldape as minister of the interior, but he has heard only rumors of the intention of Gen. Blanquet to surrender his portfolio as minister of war.

In the ordinary course of events Huerta must submit his special message to the Congress not later than Thursday.

Orders for the second division of the Atlantic fleet to return to the United States remain suspended, leaving practically half of the fleet's battleships off the east coast of Mexico, and it was said in the navy department today that if the Mexican situation should assume a more critical phase by the time Admiral Rodgers, with the first and fourth divisions of the fleet, came within a few hundred miles of Hampton roads, returning from the Mediterranean cruise, at least some of the ships would be ordered by radio to Mexico. The vessels will leave the Mediterranean Dec. 1.

WILL LOSE HIS EYESIGHT

Haverhill Physician Blinded for Life as Result of Friend's Joke.

Haverhill, Nov. 17.—Blinded for life by washing powder thrown into his eyes as a joke, Dr. William A. Keefe, prominent dentist of this city, lies in excruciating agony at the Haverhill Hospital tonight.

While visiting friends this afternoon at a bottling establishment on Water street, Albert T. Haley scooped up a paper bag full of washing powder and asked the doctor to smell of it. As Dr. Keefe did so, Haley squeezed the bag and the powder was thrown over the doctor's face and eyes.

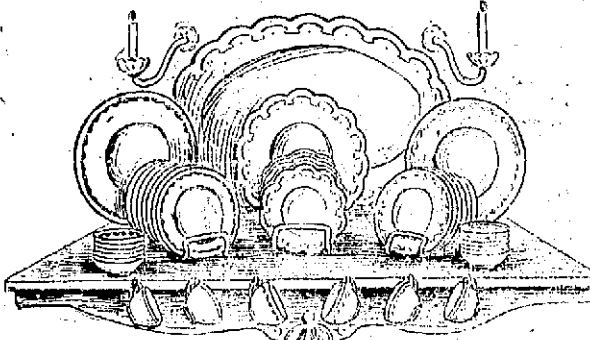

Dr. Keefe immediately complained of intense pain and his friends hurriedly prepared bandages and began to bathe his eyes. It was not known at the time that the powder contained 80 per cent lye, and serious results were not contemplated. Finally Raymond Ayer, a friend, who was at the establishment, took the doctor home, and there his wife again bandaged the eyes.

After fully two hours a doctor was summoned. When he removed the bandages he found one eye completely eaten away, and the other probably beyond saving.

Dr. Keefe was then rushed to the city hospital, but it is feared that nothing can be done for him. The police first investigated the case, first as a case of burning, then as assault. Mr. Haley, who had been intimate with the doctor for years is prostrated.

THE NOVELTY OF THE PARIS SALON

"The novelty of the season is the double helical or hearingphone gear produced by Citroen and adapted for the entire output of Moys and Gibson cars and for a large number of the Minervas. This gear has been in use for practically 12 months on the Moys cars, but it has only just been offered to the general automobile trade. It is being experimented by practically all the leading factories with possibilities of its near adoption by some of them. At the present time Citroen supplies the gears cut in his own shops, but arrangements are being made for supplying the special machinery necessary for cutting these gears. The double helical gear is not at all new, the Citroen Company, having been producing them for years particularly for very big reductions. The new feature is the application of these gears to automobile purposes.

"It is widely recognized that silence is secured by the use of helical gears, but the disadvantage of considerable axial thrust makes their use impossible for anything but the auxiliaries of the motor. It was with the object of getting the silence of the ordinary helical gear without any of its thrust, that the Citroen double-helical gear has been developed.

98 Per Cent Double Helical Efficiency.

"It is claimed for the Citroen gears that there is no axial thrust, that frictional losses have been reduced to a minimum and consequently efficiency has reached the highest point. Laboratory tests with gears having a reduction varying from 1-1 and 1-10 show an efficiency never less than 98 per cent, and sometimes as high as 99.7 per cent. Perfect silence is secured, and there is an entire absence of shock and vibration. Wear is declared to be almost nil, without any special care being taken in the lubrication, by reason of the small friction and the absence of circumferential play in the teeth."

Double Helical Gears Used for 16 Years by the Waverley Company

Double Helical or Herringbone Gears may be a novelty in Paris as applied to French made cars, but they have been used on Silent Waverley Electrics for more than sixteen years, and with ever increasing satisfaction. The high percentage of efficiency noted by the correspondent has been regularly obtained by Waverley engineers for more than five years—ever since the adoption of the parallel shaft drive with herringbone gears now used on all Silent Waverleys.

This new discovery by French engineers is naturally very gratifying to the Waverley Company of Indianapolis, who have preached the advantages of herringbone or Double Helical gears in season and out of season for many years.

The Portsmouth High School football team issued a challenge to the Dover High to play a return game in this city Nov. 23. LONG HEARING ON THAW PETITION

Motion to Dismiss the Petition for the Writ Taken Up by New York Counsel.

The preliminary hearing in the matter of the petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Harry K. Thaw was commenced this morning at Concord, before Judge Edgar Aldrich of the United States Court.

The motion to dismiss the petition for the writ was taken up at length by the counsel for the state of New York.

The supplemental petition filed yesterday with the clerk of the court, Burns P. Hodgman, cites the various events that have taken place since Thaw's trial in 1908. It attacks the order of Judge Dowling, who committed Thaw to Matteawan until released under due process of law, as they state that the laws of New York only permit commitment; untill then, this petition acts as a stay to Governor Felke's warrant for the return of the fugitive to Matteawan which became operative today.

Much of the state's evidence was given by Mrs. Zola Bennett a widow who had been employed by the state as a detective.

TEXAS READY TO ACT ALONE

Will Not Wait if Trouble Looms—Mexican Residents Menace Governor.

Amite, Tex., Nov. 17. "In the event the Mexicans start any trouble we will protect our citizens and not wait for Washington to act," declared Governor O. B. Colquhoun late today after a conference with Adj. General Hutchings. While no official statement was made it is known that the Texas National Guard is in readiness.

The conference was the outcome of a threat by Mexicans to make Texas answer to the whole Mexican people, unless mercy was shown Mexican ammunition smugglers charged with murder.

Governor Colquhoun did not apprise Washington of today's events. He said that during a recent outbreak along the Mexican border federal troops did not act until the Texas rangers had been called out.

A threat to make Texas answer to the whole Mexican people, unless mercy is shown Mexican ammunition smugglers arrested last September at Carrizo Springs, Texas, was telegraphed to Governor Colquhoun today by 127 Mexicans under date of San Marcos, Texas. There were 14 Mexican smugglers, 11 of whom are still waiting trial. The telegram read:

"Mexican colony protest against persecution that the state of Texas is making against the Mexican revolutionists that were arrested near Carrizo Springs. Two of them have been convicted against the law and sentenced, and given 25 years and 5 years in the penitentiary, and the other one was convicted at Catoila by a prejudiced jury and given the barbarous penalty of 99 years in the penitentiary. We will not stand by such a barbarous state of things and will appeal to the whole Mexican nation if your state wants to murder men loyal to the human race and the liberty of oppressed people. We have noticed that the other men are going in the convicted and sentenced to be hanged, and we will tell you Mr. Colquhoun, if such a thing happens Texas will answer before the whole Mexican community for crime without precedent in legal history.

The Governor replied: "I do hold that Mexicans must respect the rights of citizens of Texas, and I will protect lives and property of our people to the best of my ability with the means at my disposal. The laws of the state must be upheld and enforced, and I desire to inform you that your threat to make Texas answer to the whole Mexican community is certainly a heinous one, and if any violence should come to the American citizens as a result of your threat, each of you will be held responsible under the law."

GRIDIRON STARS WHO WILL MEET IN YALE-HARVARD GAME NOV. 22

They are going to make a run at Cambridge Nov. 22. John Harvard's sons and that Yale bull dog are going to put on a show at the stadium and friendships and the old brand of brotherly love will go out of business for a couple of hours. Captain Storer of Harvard is a hefty athlete who will give the Yale line a lot of trouble, and Logan at quarterback can be depended upon to run the Crimson team in excellent fashion. Captain Ketcham of Yale is sure his men can hold the Crimson down in check. He will use

Pumpelly's kicking abilities whenever his men get in bounding reach of the Harvard goal. It was Pumpelly who tied the score of the Princeton game last year by a goal from the field in the last few minutes of play. Eddie Mahan will play his first game against Yale. This fast Harvard back has jumped quickly into the captain's shoes. The Harvard lineup will probably be as follows: Right end, Storer; right tackle, Gilman; right guard, Penback; center, Soney; left guard, Covey; left tackle, Hilkrough; left end,

SOME AUTO FACTS.

If you are thinking of buying an auto don't let 'em fool you with six cylinder talk. They made, talked and tried four cylinders and now are going to take a chance on six because their four were not up to standard and would not hold in competition with a good four.

The two speed direct drive rear axle is the solution and what the public wants. They don't want an extra lot of junk added on the engine, they want what the Cadillac has developed, a good self-starter and two speed direct drive rear axle. This gives you a low gear direct drive for hilly country or a high gear direct drive for level, smooth country. Mind these ratios are direct on high, not through a set of gears like the other fellow uses in his fourth speed to gain the same results. We get one direct.

The Four Cadillac rides as smoothly at 30 to 60 miles an hour as our built and climbs hills on high that many six cylinder cars can't.

HEALTH

Fifty or seventy five years ago you might have had it because the cold had the right of way. In the words of the old minister Jake the case was open and in-the-end, but we have changed all that. The cold which everyone supposed he must have sooner or later when winter came on has kept his secret for generations.

The idea of his being a pernicious, deadly contagious microbe never entered into the philosophy of our grand parents. It was taken as a human affliction, like ill temper, taxes, matrimony and the weather, and treated rather as a domestic pet; housed in rooms with those who had none and liberally extended to others. We heard that a cold "will spread through the house." It will continue to do it unless we take it by the horns and with true American consistency deport it as we must now deport all criminal germs.

The cold is making ready to start on its annual tour; it may be on the way for all we know; therefore, Dr. Neff has issued a bulletin of timely warnings for those who are preparing to go forth and meet it half way.

These hints are well worth heeding. Colds he says are not due to the weather but to germs, and they are contagious.

Avoid persons who have colds especially in crowded and poorly ventilated places, where you can't dodge the air which has been sprayed full of millions of cold germs, by coughing and sneezing.

Keep coughing and sneezing persons away from the baby, and above all do not let persons with a cold kiss the baby.

Avoid the common drinking cup and roller towel. Keep all unnecessary things such as pencils and the like away from the mouth.

Avoid stuffy, poorly ventilated rooms and dusty atmospheres. Good ventilation will not only prevent but will assist in curing colds and similar diseases of the breathing organs.

Keep the mouth, nose throat and teeth clean. A good solution for cleansing the nose and throat is made by adding a teaspoonful of table salt to a pint of water to be about body temperature, and never cold when used.—Exchange.

SNUBBING INVENTORS

How Clever Ideas Are Discouraged in England and Welcome Abroad

Is it not true that Great Britain, treated inventors in a more generous spirit? It is the frequent complaint that inventors in this country are neglected, that ideas are ignored and not persevered with, owing to the shortsightedness of the powers that be. There certainly some striking illustrations of the fact that inventors do not always meet with the consideration they deserve.

Lieut. Dunne after many discouraging rebuffs from the war office reluctantly disposed of his wonderful aeroplane to France, which was quick to recognize its advantages. Every year we pay Germany over a million pounds, because Mr. Perkin could not get us here to take up the latest discovery of aniline dyes, while letters are in existence which show how our admirably numerically snubbed the inventor who in 1859 urged that ships should be made of iron and not of wood.

Morlandt offered an efficient submarine boat to the Admiralty so far back at 1883 when no other power possessed one, but the inventor was cold shouldered and as a result we were almost the last naval power to adopt the submarine.

But there is another side to the question. Great Britain actually discourages inventions by the prohibitive fees charged for patents. Five pounds must be paid before a patent can be secured. A patent is then granted for a term of fourteen years but at the end of four years 50 pounds has to be paid for a certificate of renewal, and another 100 before the end of eight years. These fees however can be paid in installments if desired.

Of course if the invention is a huge success and brings in thousands of pounds, these fees do not seem very large, but they are certainly a great burden on the small inventor, in other countries, in the United States for instance, the government fee for a patent is only 7 pounds 4s, and probably there is no country in the world has deferred greater advantages from the ingenuity of the small inventor than America.

In Germany the inventor is charged only 50 marks for a patent. As the Agricultural Economists point out in the case of Germany wages of workmen are much lower in England, but even with this disadvantage in income, we can see at a glance how much more helpful Germany is to the moneyless inventor than we are. A mechanic is only molested at a fortnight's wages for the cost of a patent. Thonndries Bellman charges him a year or a year and a quarter's wages for a similar protection of his ideas. The German workman engaged on the construction of a Zeppelin airship or a Krupp gun can afford to let himself think of improvements in the details of the things on which he is at work. No wonder Germany gets ahead of us in many departments of modern industry.

In France and Belgium the costs of patents is ridiculously low as compared with the cost of this country. Four pounds covers the fees in France, and the French workman can thus purchase protection for his invention at the cost of about three weeks wages while in Belgium a workman can patent any improvement of which he thinks for the nominal sum of ten francs equivalent to just under eight shillings or our money.—London Times.

The lens department of the optical company at 529 today to pay off employees in another building about 400 yards from the main factory.

The road from the main factory to the lens shop leads over a narrow bridge spanning the Quinsburg river. It was at this point that the alleged highwaymen advanced from the opposite end of the ridge and without a word of warning, one of them placed a revolver at Dwyer's head and taking a step backward fired two shots. The other man the larger of the two, grabbed the bag from clerk Prendergast, and both highwaymen ran in the direction of a wooded knoll in the rear of the factory premises.

Dwyer and Prendergast immediately gave chase, but the fugitives were soon lost to view as they entered the woods, and the chase was abandoned when the robbers fired two shots at their pursuers.

Paymaster Dwyer according to custom, was on his way to pay off the night help, who were waiting at the lens shop. The money was in individual envelopes in a metal cash box, which was fastened with a lock. It is the custom of Dwyer and Prendergast to go over the same route about the same time every Monday night. The robbers were evidently familiar with the custom but as it was a common thing for the paymaster to meet people passing to and from the building he paid little attention to the two men who had advanced toward them en route from the opposite end of the bridge, which is about five feet wide. Dwyer and Prendergast stepped aside to let the men pass when, without a word they were assaulted and robbed of the company's money.

Paymaster Dwyer said tonight that it is likely that the man who did the shooting used blank cartridges as the revolver seemed to be pointed directly at him, although in the darkness he thinks he may be mistaken.

After the holdup Dwyer and Prendergast ran to the factory and gave the alarm. The police were notified and arrived on the scene ten minutes after the robbers disappeared.

Scores of citizens and police are scouring the woods tonight in an effort to apprehend the robbers but at a late hour no arrest has been made.

The plant of the American Optical Company covers about twenty five acres, much of which is used for lawns and open spaces. The entire premises are surrounded by an iron fence eight feet in height. The gates are watched during working hours and the robbers in order to get into the yard must have climbed the high iron fence near the Fort Sumpter road and crossed the river to the power house, where it was an easy matter for them to slip out onto the bridge when they saw the paymaster approach.

Both Paymaster Dwyer and his clerk say that they would recognize the men should they see them again. The larger of the two and the one who took the box from Prendergast, had a light mustache, was about six feet tall and wore a light suit, red sweater and a gray felt hat. He is described as a heavy build, probably weighing 200 pounds.

The smaller man who did the shooting was about 5 feet eight inches tall of light complexion and wore checked trousers and a light gray sack coat. The police of the surrounding cities and towns have been asked to look for men answering the description given by the victims of tonight's robbery.

THE CIVIC CLUB TO HAVE SOME NOTABLE SPEAKERS

The Portsmouth Civic Club who have planned some very interesting and instructive meetings for the winter will hold the first one on Thursday afternoon at the Assembly hall in the high school building. The meetings are all to be mothers meetings and so that it will be convenient for them the meetings will be held in the afternoon and every woman in the city is invited and the men as well for while it called a mothers' meeting it is really parents, and the excellent programme as by such able men that it will be of special interest to everybody.

At the meeting on Thursday afternoon Dr. F. Howard Leachy of Boston, one of the most brilliant of the young surgeons in the country will speak on "Emergencies and General Health Talk." He will devote some time to Infantile Paralysis and the Epidemic. Dr. Leachy has given out that he will answer any questions and wishes a general discussion following his address. Dr. Leachy is a surgeon at the Boston City Hospital, Visiting Surgeon at the Long Island Hospital, Assistant Professor at the Tufts Medical and Harvard Graduate Medical Colleges and one of the fellows of the American College of Surgeons.

At the December meeting the club have planned for a very interesting subject on the "Adolescent Period of Childhood" a period in the life of the child that very few parents understand. It will be handled by Dr. Libbey of Boston, Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine at Tufts Medical College and a surgeon at the Boston City Hospital and a recognized authority on children's and women's diseases. This is a subject that is of vital importance to all parents and an opportunity to hear the subject handled by an eminent authority.

In January the meeting will be for "Vocational Education" including the Domestic Arts and the speaker will be Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction Whitaker, formerly of the Berlin high school where his work in this line brought him into prominence in educational circles throughout the country.

The February meeting will be held in the evening with the idea of having a program that would be interesting for the men as well as women. The speaker for this will be announced later.

as the Club are in hopes of getting a very prominent man of Boston to make the address.

The March meeting will be on school work with an exhibition and the speaker will be Miss Harriet Huntress second Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction.

In April there will be a health talk the speaker to be announced, and in May it will be a Civic meeting and in June the annual meeting.

The program arranged is one that should appeal strongly to parents and the Club are very fortunate in being able to secure such able men to come here. The meetings are educational and the Civic Club has been granted the use of the hall in the high school building by the Board of Instruction.

MAY BLAME WEATHER BUREAU

Congressman Gordon Asks President to Inquire Into Responsibility of Death of 254 Men in Lake Storm.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 17.—Congressman Gordon last night telegraphed President Woodrow Wilson asking him to direct an investigation of the Weather Bureau to ascertain if it was responsible for the loss of 254 lives in the storm which broke over the Great Lakes last Sunday. The chief aim of the investigation, Congressman Gordon says, will be to learn if inadequate and improper signals were displayed. He desires a presidential inquiry in preference to a congressional investigation, as it will be more expeditious. The congressman says he will go to Washington soon to give the matter personal attention.

RAY AND VARDON MUCH PLEASED AT AMERICAN TOUR

After a tour of nearly thirty thousand miles throughout the United States and Southern Canada, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray both former open golf champions of Great Britain sailed for home Thursday on board the Celtic. Although these famous Englishmen conceded to be two of the finest golfers in the world, were unsuccessful in their quest of the American title, they expressed keen delight at having visited this country.

and hoped that they would be able to come over once again next year.

"Our trip has been delightful," said Ray. "We have gone from one end of your wonderful country to the other. We have not seen all that there is to be seen, for there is much territory that we have not covered, but what we have seen wonderful though it was, leads me to believe that golf in America has only been scratched on the surface. American golf is only in its infancy. It takes more than a quarter of a century to develop champions, and if the Americans can bring out such remarkable players as McDermott, Outmet, Travers and Travis, in that short space of time I must concede that we Englishmen must look to our laurels by the time the new generation has become matured."

DEFENDS WHIPPING POST

Governor Miller of Delaware Declares Punishment Will Stand Until Law Is Repealed.

Wilmington Del., Nov. 17.—Governor Charles B. Miller yesterday issued a statement in defense of the whipping post and declared that that method of punishment for criminals in Delaware would continue until the law providing for it is repealed, "regardless of any attempted interference by a member of Congress or of individuals residing in other states."

In his statement the governor said: "The courts and other legal authorities of the state of Delaware will administer the internal affairs of the Commonwealth regardless of any attempted interference by a member of Congress or of individuals residing in other states, who are ignorant of conditions and permit themselves to be misled by extravagant and highly colored newspaper articles. The persons who have written me numerous letters some of them abusive and insulting to the citizenship of the state, should pause to consider that state government in America is based upon statutory law by men elected by the people. I shall uphold the state's courts in the administration of the law and warn all evidences to give Delaware a wide berth if they wish to escape the whipping post."

AEROPLANE PATROL FOR ELECTRIC POWER LINE.

Novel Experiment to be Tried by Power Line Over California Concern's Lines. San Francisco, Nov. 17.—Robert Powell, an aviator, announced today that he has signed a contract with a power company to patrol its lines between Oakland and Oroville in an aeroplane, and will make trips twice weekly, beginning Nov. 20. Headquarters for Powell have been established at Sacramento. Because of difficulty in locating broken wires and interrupted power service, the company hit upon the idea of employing an aeroplane and aviator and when Powell demonstrated that the plan was feasible a contract was signed. A patrolman equipped with repair apparatus will ride with Powell.

PROPHETS PREPARE FOR HARD WINTER

For the first time in many years the weather prognosticators of this section who have been meeting in annual session for the past fifteen years, practically agree in predicting a severe winter.

THE GOVERNOR'S THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

State of New Hampshire

By His Excellency Samuel D. Parker, Governor.

A PROCLAMATION for Thanksgiving Day.

In grateful acknowledgement of the blessings of existing peace and prosperity, and in conformity with the proclamation of the President of the United States, I have, with the advice and consent of the Council, appointed Thursday, the twenty-seventh day of November, current, to be observed in public gatherings in our houses of worship and in the family groups by the home firesides, as a Day of Thanksgiving and praise.

May we then, as becomes a Christian people, with thankful hearts, render praise to Almighty God for the blessings which flow from the existing harmony among Nations peacefulness in our own country and the plentiful temporal bounties which the year has brought forth to us. Amidst surrounding comforts let us not forget those who may have been less fortunate, and gratefully share with them the abundance that has been given us. May it truly be made an expression of Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men, and Thanksgiving to our Heavenly Father.

Given at the Council Chamber in Concord, this thirtieth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-eighth.

SAMUEL D. PARKER, Governor.

By His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Council, Edward N. Pearson, Secretary of State.

ENGLISH BATTLESHIP SANK UNDER FIRE

Washington, Nov. 17.—Owing to the official secrecy which is being maintained in regard to the firing at the Empress of India by the ships of the British home fleet various reports were in circulation at Weymouth as to the fate of the ship. It is now understood that she was set on fire by a shell from the light cruiser Liverpool, and after having been battered by the big guns of other vessels she sank in twenty five fathoms of water, thirty miles off Portland. The operations were witnessed by the first lord of the Admiralty. After individual ships had finished their practice, squadron firing by the second battle squadron commenced. Immediately afterwards flames burst out every where on board the battered vessel. A pause was then made, and tugs pumped water onto the flames, the intention being to save her in order to carry out torpedo exercises next day. But the injuries received had opened holes like lock gates in her side; and after the firing ships had left she turned turtle and sank.

Thus the Empress of India has gone to the bottom of the Channel almost at the moment when the new battle ship the Emperor of India is about to be launched at Harlow in Furness. The former cost $4,190,435, and the latter will represent an expenditure of nearly $12,500,000.

The lost ship was some time ago removed from the effective list, but instead of selling her the Admiralty determined to utilize her for a series of gunnery experiments of a most important character. The significance of this decision and the importance attached to the trials may be judged from the fact that when sold by auction the sister vessels of the Empress of India realized about $250,000 each, and this was the approximate value of the vessel which has been sunk. It was hoped that it would be possible to keep her afloat after she had sustained the shattering effects of the gun fire of the selected ships of the home fleet, but this anticipation has not been realized, and consequently the full programme, which included an attack by torpedoes, has not been carried out.

The Empress of India was completed at Pembroke Dockyard in 1902. She had a displacement of 14,160 tons. The feature of the construction, which rendered her of preeminent value as a target, was her protective belt and deck—the latter 3 inches thick. The belt was of composite armor—which is of about a half the value of the type employed today—and it varied in thickness from 18 inches to 5 inches, and extended over a length of 250 feet of a total length of 380 feet. The belt terminated in armored bulkheads, 18 inches thick. Behind the armor were coal bunkers which gave additional protection to her vitals. The four 12-12 inch guns of 67 tons were mounted in two barbettes formed of armor no less than 17 inches thick.

In her day the Empress of India was the pride of the navy. Her main guns fired projectiles weighing 1250 pounds with a powder charge of 650 pounds, and her secondary armament consisted of ten 6-inch guns, firing 100-pound projectiles. She was also fitted with no fewer than seven torpedoes and had storage for eighteen torpedoes. Though she has for many years been obsolete, the Empress of India was in her time a remarkable ship, with a radius of action at a speed of ten knots of 6000 miles. Her guns weighed 1410 tons, and she carried a weight of armor of no less than 4550 tons. After twenty years' active service in keeping the peace, this ship of the last decade of the nineteenth century has fulfilled her destiny by sinking under the concentrated fire of ships representing the latest constructional and armament theories of the twentieth century.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK ACHES

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You—Dring Lots of Water

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat overtaxes the kidneys; they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the alkali of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

A ROOM WITH A BATH FOR A DOLLAR AND A HALF

The United States probably surpasses any other country in the number of its beautiful hotels splendidly run and equipped. Especially is this true in New York city, and we have no doubt but that it leads all other cities of the world.

Notable among its hundreds of such structures is the NAVARRE HOTEL, admittedly one of the handsomest in the city in French Renaissance style of steel construction, with outer walls of stone and brick of light gray color, and red tiled roof, situated in the very centre of everything one wishes to see.

Of the 350 rooms no two are decorated alike. Many compose elaborate suites and the appointments of all include telephones, electric lights, and every modern convenience. All have windows affording outside light and air, including the bathrooms.

With all this comfort, safety and luxury, entailing as it does an immense expense, the proprietors have inaugurated a rate never before attempted in this country, "A Room with a Bath for a Dollar and a Half." This announcement is so extraordinary that it is attracting widespread notice both in this country and abroad.

FASHION IN THE LIGHT OF ART.

THE HOUSING CONDITIONS

The Social Service Department of the Portsmouth Civic Association has decided to take up the question of the proper housing of the working class and women living in Portsmouth away from their own families. And have already begun working toward a solution of this problem by directing their social worker to prepare a list of all the furnished room houses, hotels and boarding houses in the town.

From this list are to be picked those found suitable for women living alone. The rooms and boarding places thus selected are to be published, together with the location, owner, and price, and these lists will be posted in various public places in the town.

In order to facilitate this work the Social Service Department will be very glad to have all those wishing to have their homes included in the list to call at the social worker's office at 39 Pleasant street, from ten-thirty to eleven-thirty a. m. at their earliest convenience.

Nothing to Do But Wear Clothes.

The claim is made for one of the leaders of "society" at a popular summer colony that she has sixty-five outfit dresses. Supposedly away for recreation and rest, she is burdened with the annoyance of keeping track of an assortment of gowns that in numbers and variety would do credit to a girls' boarding school. Poor thing. Nothing to do but wear clothes. A butterfly without the butterfly's freedom from worry about its coloring and down.

Did you once make the mistake of envying the rich? Don't repeat it, please. Rather pity them for the emptiness, vanity and isolation of the lives of most of them; for the crushing burden which their having to live up to a socially established standard puts upon their better nature; for the barriers which their dollars build round them to interrupt and distort the natural play of human brotherhood.

Sally Ann, the carpenter's daughter, with one gingham gown and her toes peeping out, is closer to happiness, closer to the loving heart of old Mother Nature, far more to be envied for her possibilities of true human fellowship, than this gilded society "bud." Despite her sixty-five dresses, at least sixty of them must be a nuisance and bore.

Care Should Be Taken in Their Treatment.

A good home is not purchased with money nor can it be maintained by dirlings. In the most magnificent mansions are sometimes found the most desolate and unhappy hearts. The children of today are to be the founders of the homes of tomorrow. Are they being trained in lines that promise perpetuation of the joys of this most sacred place? Are the scenes and surroundings of their lives such as to make it easy and natural to travel in those paths that lead to long and continued peace? Are not some of the so-called best parents thoughtlessly teaching their wee ones dishonesty and falsehood, and by their examples establishing idleness and frivolity as the summum bonum of life? The parent who makes a threat he does not intend to fulfill, is planting seeds of untruthfulness in the youth's mind, that if it does not yield a crop of falsehood, will one of disrespect for the unwise parents.

Our Pure Food Law Is Not New.

History repeats itself. Harper's Weekly has brought to light the fact that our pure food law labels are old and antique. In 900 B. C. the ancient Hebrews made the wholesale grocers and wine dealers of their day put such seals and labels on their wine and oil jars. They stated when the wine was deposited in the cellars and where the wine came from. On the oil jars the label read "A jar of pure oil," with the name of the district producing it. Seventy-five of these records were found. They show that even in the days of King Ahab the government protected the stomachs of its citizens.

Shows His Ill Breeding.

There are men who will cringe and scrape and bow to the women in their own sphere, or above them in social positions, who are boorish enough to only half nod without even touching the hat to the women who have not this social prestige. Such a man is thoroughly ill-bred, and by so doing he lowers himself fifty per cent. in the estimation of all sensible people.

Now Is the Time.

It seems a trifle early to hang out the sign "shop early" but the early shopper gets the most satisfactory results as a rule. The time between now and Christmas is none too early to permit the prudent ones to delay in giving the gift subject some attention.

A Kansas farmer purchased a revolver for his wife, and insisted on target practice, so that she could defend the house in case of his absence. After the bullet had been dug out of his leg, and the cow buried, he said he guessed that she'd better shoot with an axe.

Thanksgiving day is fast approaching and the turkeys are roosting high. The turkey dinner of the average newspaper man is all an iridescent dream—a cruel, glittering fantasy—a chimera—a vision of something not of this world.

Talk about courage! A Baltimore woman underwent nine major surgical operations and then unfalteringly submitted to the marriage ceremony.

Zelaya, Who Executed Americans, Now Seeks Aid Here For Rebels.

The former president of Nicaragua, Jose Zelaya, has come to the United States to seek support for a revolution against the existing government in the republic. The United States immigration officials have been keeping an eye on him, and an attempt has been made to have him deported as an undesirable alien. While president of Nicaragua Zelaya ordered the execution of two Americans whom he accused of joining in a revolt against his government by the National party. The men were shot in spite of the protest of American citizens.

BLACK FOXES BRING WEALTH

Industry on Prince Edward Island Valued at Millions of Dollars

Robert Patton of Charlottetown, P. E. I., and president of the recently formed maritime Province division of the Canadian Fox Association, is quoted as follows concerning the black fox hunt on the island:

"The highest price ever paid in the world for a silver fox pelts at a fur sale was between $2500 and $3000. The fox was bred in captivity in Prince Edward Island. And one small shipment of black fox pelts sent to the London market from one island ranch netted the owner over $10,000—that was before the boom, before breeding stock was bought and sold; before the world had learned that two of the three enterprising Prince Edward Islanders had successfully domesticated the exceptionally rare and highly prized silver fox."

"I haven't the statistics exactly at my finger ends. But the present stock of broodstock—silver foxes—is valued at something over $500,000, and the provincial government has already collected taxes on last season's pups, and for taxation purposes at between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000."

Most of the black foxes are now held by joint stock companies, proved breeders being capitalized at from $20,000 to $30,000 a pair, and most of the pups at from $10,000 to $15,000 a pair, though some range higher. Of the companies which have been in operation for over a year, all with the exception of several smaller ones, which owned only one or two pairs that this year had no offspring have this year paid dividends ranging from 20 per cent upward.

"One company which brought its breeders several years ago, and before pelts had reached their present level, this autumn distributed to its shareholders 500 per cent cash and in addition handed them a 500 per cent bonus.

One young lady whom I know put $1000 into foxes a couple of years ago and this amount netted $10,000 as representing her profits to date.

"Several of our fox ranchers who ten years ago, if not as poor as church mice, at least were no better off than hundreds of their associate farmers, who had no access to capital, who made no lucky strikes in stocks, who have not employed more than one or two men as keepers, today are worth at least a million of dollars, and there seems to be every promise that a hunter will have amassed quite as much when one or two more harvests have been gathered.

"There is not a doubt that for fur farming as an industry has come today. It is hardly to be expected that present values will always be maintained. The demand for high class breeding stock is now very great and Prince Edward Island more or less controls the market."

HEALTHFUL TO YAWN.

Yawning is said to have an exceedingly healthful function besides having a salutary effect in complaints of the pharynx and the eustachian tubes. According to investigations yawning is the most natural form of respiratory exercise, bringing into action all the respiratory muscles of the neck and chest.

It is recommended that every person should have a good yawn with the stretching of the limbs morning and evening for the purpose of ventilating the lungs and tonifying the respiratory muscles. An eminent authority asserts that this form of gymnastics has a remarkable effect in relieving throat and ear troubles, and says that patients suffering from disorders of the throat have derived great benefit from it. He says he makes his patients yawn, by suggestion or imitation, or by a series of deep breaths with the lips partly closed. The yawning is repeated six or seven times and should be followed by swallowing. By this process the air and mucus in the eustachian tubes are aspirated.—New York Sun.

Neckties to Match the Color of Your Soul

Paul Polak, the eminent dress designer, says that men should choose neckties to match the color of their souls.

Perhaps some men would have difficulty in choosing the right color, but if they consult the advertising columns of their five daily newspapers like The Herald, they will find guides to an infinite variety of neckwear. Men's styles are becoming each year a more and more important factor. Tailors and dealers study them more closely. There is more news to tell. And that makes the men's advertising more interesting and more important to the readers.

Live men keep posted on the advertising in their papers because it pays them to do so.

Kird That Goes Astray.

A dispatch from Pottsville, Pa., says that a letter mailed 62 years ago has just reached its destination in that city. Without reading the story, we are willing to wager 10 to 1 that it contained a remittance to the addressee simply had to have the day after it was written or have all sorts of trouble.

Charm in Small Courtesies.

Small kindnesses, small courtesies, small considerations, habitually practiced in our social intercourse, give a greater charm to our character than the display of great talents and accomplishments.

HER TRIALS

I am the girl at the telephone, Alas! Alas!
I fret, I frown I sigh and groan,
For I've come unto that pass
When my life to me is misery
And peace is never more,
For 'tis ring, ring, ring and ring-a-ling,
With that maddening "What's the score?"
I am the girl who must answer them,
Oh dear! Oh dear!
Not a one of all I contend,
For I am fettered here,
And I have not even a second's rest
From the queries fast that pour
With the ringing bell and the anxious
"Well, it's going? What's the score?"

I'm the martyr that pays the price
Ho! ho! ho!
And I'd give this job up in a trice
If I thought 'twould go on so,
With the friends and fans who din my ears,
A million times or more,
Till I'm out of breath and tired to death
Of telling what's the score.

CURRENT OPINION

STATES CAN BEST STOP SLAUGHTER OF BIRDS.

The most effective means to prevent the slaughter of birds and stop the use of plumage is for the States to take as their cue the attitude of Congress as expressed in the tariff bill and enact legislation to prevent the possession and use of the prohibited feathers.

About such legislation there can be no doubt, and its effectiveness would be apparent immediately.—Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon, Father of a Bill to Prevent Slaughter of Birds

ENGINE LIGHTS SHONE

The Hiltowns of Tyrone, Okla., just over the Kansas border in the northwestern panhandle of Oklahoma, bids defiance to the Standard Oil Company. There the women wash and wipe the there is not an electric light plant within forty miles of the village.

From 7 to 9 each evening the dozen homes of Tyrone are lighted by the great headlights of a Rock Island passenger train and the story of a traveling man's discomfort and the $2 it cost him for cigars for the men of the town explains the distinction held by this panhandle metropolis.

J. P. Bancroft representing a Kansas City house, had been sent down here to establish a new customer. He had finished his work and intended to take a night train back to Liberal. With a half dozen men Bancroft sat in the hotel balcony playing cards. He looked down the track and saw a great headlight looming up. He made a run for the grips and yelled at the boy to take them over to the depot quick. Bancroft rushed up to the ticket window and demanded a ticket for Liberal.

"How's this," he said to the agent. "I thought this train wasn't due for an hour and here it is not a mile away?" "Mister," the agent said "you had better go back to the hotel and buy cigars for that bunch. I guess this is your first trip down here. That headlight is just 40 miles away; you've got nearly an hour to finish that game of pinocle."

"This is the largest stretch of straight track in the United States, 76 miles clear across the panhandle with out a curve. You see that house over there. That's where I live. I don't have to light up until nine o'clock winter nights. About twilight the Golden State Limited looms up down about Texoma and she shines right into my kitchen window for an hour, finally getting so dark that my wife won't wash dishes by anything but electric light. I never have to call the dispatcher to get the time on trains. I climb to the roof of the station, get a line on the headlight and make up my board accordingly.—Exchange.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

No Sick Headache, Bileous Stomach,
Coated Tongue Or Constipated
Bowels By Morning

Get a 10 cent box now.

Turn the cascades out, the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a dry liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the accumulated waste matter and poisons in the bowels, then you feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A ten cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never get sick or clogged.

CANADA'S BEEF OPPORTUNITY

It is not likely that the farmers of the United States will ever again devote themselves and their farms to beef cattle production to any increased extent. As the urban population increases more rapidly than the rural population an increasing proportion of the agricultural land will be devoted to market gardening fruit growing and other forms of intensive cultivation of the soil. It goes without saying that this is the Ontario farmer's opportunity.

The beef cattle industry may profitably be carried on with a minimum of labor especially if the farmer is contented to raise "stockers" for his farmers more fortunately situated to "finish" either in Canada or in the United States. "Stocker" farming may be carried on so as to improve the farm by constant cultivation if summer fallowing is resorted to during the scorching heat of July and August when pasturage becomes scant and water becomes scarce. "Stocking" in summer and "fallowing" in winter will enable the intelligent farmer to add largely to the profits found possible on the old pasturage lines when labor is scarce and dear and the work is of a sort to be done chiefly by horses.

Moreover there are vast areas of so-called "waste" lands which have been cleared of valuable trees but are quite well adapted to some kinds of "branching."

COURT FINDS MARTIN INSANE AND WILL VOID

After considering the case for five months Surrogate Fowler of New York handed down a decision yesterday regarding probate to a will made by Captain John Calvin Martin, coal operator and philanthropist, by which he gave the bulk of his $800,000 estate to the John C. Martin Educational Fund, which he established some years ago for the promotion of Christian education, but which had been abandoned before his death.

Captain Martin spent a good deal of time in this city and neighborhood previous to his death and it was here that his last will was executed, Col. John H. Bartlett being named as executor. A large amount in securities and cash was on deposit in the local banks and a good deal of local interest has been taken in the legal proceedings in New York.

RIFLE EXPLODED AND BUTLER BOY WAS SHOT

Yesterday afternoon while out gunning in the woods near Lafayette road, Theodore Butler, the 16-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Butler, of 57 State street was fatally shot yesterday afternoon when a 22-calibre rifle accidentally exploded in the hands of Thomas Craig, the 16-year old son of Paymaster's Clerk and Mrs. William Craig of Lovell street.

The bullet lodged in the Butler boy's hip against the bone and he was rushed to the hospital under the direction of Doctors Taylor and Peabody.

Persistent and skilful work removed the bullet and the condition of the boy was reported as improved.

WEATHER SIGNS

If on picking up your newspaper in the morning it displays a tendency to tear almost on its own account a down pour of rain is not far off. Rain is also presaged when the contents of a rain cellar are in a moist and chummy condition. At such times your boots have a more than ordinary tendency to snap, and your kid gloves will have a cold, clammy feeling and be difficult to pull on.

Even the walking stick or umbrella will act the part of a barometer. The handles before rain will reveal a slight deposit of moisture and be sticky to the touch. In this way the question whether it is the wiser to take a walking stick or umbrella on leaving home will be settled for the observant person by an inspection of the articles themselves.—Galveston News.

THE PRESIDENT NOT WORRIED OVER MEXICO

Ambassy Not Closed--Situation Unsettled But Not Alarming--Foreigners Leaving Mexico.

Washington, Nov. 17.—President Wilson does not regard the Mexican situation as having reached any such critical stage as to require the closing of the American Embassy. Discussing reports to that effect today, he said Charles G. Thompson, neither had been given his passport nor been told to come back.

While details as to persons had changed, yet the main circumstances remained substantially the same as when the President previously expressed a favorable view of the situation.

Summing up the status of affairs, the President indicated that while the personal attitude of Gen. Huerta might be changed, the circumstances upon which the American Government bases its conviction that Huerta's elimination is inevitable have not changed at all. "The mills of the gods grind slowly," expressed the slow and steady purposes being pursued.

It was made plain at the White House that the forced resignation of Minister Alzupue did not affect materially the American plan, as it was pointed out that no plan this Government might have very well depend on the permanency of any member of the Huerta cabinet.

The President made it plain that the changes in the situation though they appeared kaleidoscopic in detail, had not impaired confidence here in the ultimate solution of the problem by peaceful means.

Official denial was made at the White House of a report that Pan American mediation was contemplated.

ed, and it was reiterated that no mediation of any kind had been offered to either faction. South American nations, it was stated, had been informed in the same way as European nations and have expressed in the main their desire to support the American policy.

Brazil in particular, in not having recognized the Huerta Government previously, is regarded especially friendly to the American policy. Secretary Bryan has ordered investigations of the executions at Juarez, but thus far has been unable to reconcile conflicting reports.

EXODUS FROM MEXICO CITY

Many Americans Among Foreigners Rushing to Vera Cruz--Huerta Regards His Part Finished.

Mexico City, Nov. 17.—Gen. Huerta regards his part in the recent exchange of communications with the United States as finished. He expects to find no difficulty in consummating his plan to bring his new Congress in full organization tomorrow, and he continues planning his military campaigns and carrying out his policies of pacification.

What further move may be taken at Washington is a question which neither the Mexicans nor the foreigners here find it easy to answer, but there was noticeable today an increasing expression of opinion that the United States would continue her efforts of pacification.

This was not a predominating belief, but those who expressed it pointed out that there was an element at Washington which would be contented to see the Federal and Constitutional laws play their own game to the finish, the taking of Juarez by the rebel forces being cited as perhaps an encouragement of such a disposition at Washington.

It was reported unofficially today that Chihuahua had been captured. The War Department, however, has little information regarding military operations, especially those in the north, in which the rebels are said to be victorious.

The situation about Tuxpan, the center of the oil industry, is described as acute. The rebels are urging the foreigners to cap their wells and leave them, as the rebels do not propose to leave an unrestricted supply of fuel oil for the railroads, nor to enable the Government to derive revenue from that source.

The exodus of foreigners, especially Americans, continued today. The trains to Vera Cruz were jammed. It was asserted at the American Embassy that no new instructions had been received.

Many American citizens who have reached here from smaller towns in the interior possess the deep-seated feeling that the situation has reached a most acute stage and large numbers of them have joined in the rush to Vera Cruz.

A number of business concerns here, whose headquarters are abroad have received cabled instructions to send the women and children of their employees out of the Federal Capital, while from Vera Cruz today a man arrived, who claimed to be a messenger from John Lind, with what authority was not known, and who urged the immediate departure of all American women and children and advised the men to do likewise.

All the inhibitors of foreign countries are still here, and it is not anticipated that any of them will leave their posts, even in case of intervention, as the diplomatic consider it part of their duty to safeguard the interests of their respective countries.

In this connection, Admiral Von Hintze, the German Minister, is optimistic, saying he believes there is no reason for anxiety, and that a plan is being considered by which armed intervention will surely be avoided.

TO CARE FOR FUGITIVES

Cruiser Nuernberg Ordered to San Blas to Take on Board Germans From City of Tepic, Mex.

Merlin, Nov. 17.—Admiral Paul von Hintze, the German minister in Mexico has ordered the cruiser Nuernberg now on the Pacific coast of Mexico, to proceed to San Blas, a port in the state of Tepic, in order to take on board any German fugitives from the city of Tepic, which is threatened by insurgents.

Private steamers are to be chartered if the Nuernberg is unable to reach the place in time.

THE CAVE MAN

The cave man must have been a nut. Say those who've conned his neap. Bewildered baby and uncouth, He was a sorry sight in sooth. Whoever he felt need of grub, He sussed for it with a club. And when he'd got it too hard raw, Reduced it while he gnawed it raw. If made he wanted, forth he'd face And drag a damsel by the hair; While if a rival he should meet, He'd methods use now obsolete. The things that make life happy here, He never knew--and yet I fear The Cave Man, were he with us now, Some of our ways would disavow, He never knew of fancy doozy, Of safety razors or tight shoes, Although his hair may have been greased.

He did not have his trousers creased. When, smother on its job was bent, He loafed and dreamed and napped away. In winter he thought not of coal, But alternated in his hole. No modish clothes or social ways, Brought varied nights or wretched days. No market place or public, Or book purveyors, or gold bricks, His mind debauched, or worry that he needed massage for his fat. He did not twist his neck away To glimpse a girl skittering by; He surely lacked some things of woe. But then the Cave Man had the earth!

Many from this city went to Boston on Monday evening to attend the Shriners meeting.

KNOW IT WELL

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Portsmouth Citizens

A familiar burden in many homes. The burden of a "bad back." A lame, a weak or an aching back. Often tells you of kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Portsmouth testimony. George Byers, 172 Gates St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "My kidneys became disordered some years ago and I suffered severely from pains and lameness in my back. The kidneys sometimes were too frequent in passing and at night I was obliged to arise several times. I doctored and tried several remedies, but was unable to find relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Pharmacy. They brought the most satisfactory results. After I had finished the contents of two boxes, my trouble had disappeared."

BOND ISSUE TO GO TO SUPREME COURT

Boston, Nov. 17.—Judge Sheldon in the Supreme Court this morning heard the appeal of former Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley of Connecticut and other stockholders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad from the decree of the Public Service Commission authorizing the issuance of $67,552,000 of convertible bonds by the New Haven Company. The purpose of the proceedings was to put the case in shape for argument before the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court. Much in the case are not in dispute and the evidence presented to the Court was largely documentary and consisted of a condensed history of the New Haven Railroad and the records of the Public Service Commission relative to the proposed issue of stocks and bonds.

Nathan Matthews and James E. Jackson appeared for the petitioners and Charles F. Choate, Jr., and Edward D. Robinson for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company. Those in attendance for the Public Service Commission included Chairman Madison, Charles B. Mann, custodian of documents and Mr. Lester, chief accountant for the Commission. The decree of the Commission is defended by New Haven counsel.

An outline of the petitioners' case was given by Nathan Matthews, reviewing the proceedings before the Public Service Commission and the principal contentions against the decree. By permission of Judge Sheldon, Charles F. Choate made a brief statement at the opening for the purpose, he said, of narrowing down the issue before the Court.

FLOODS STARTING EARLY IN VIRGINIA

Pittsburg, Nov. 17.—Heavy snowfall in the mountainous sections of West Virginia followed by an unusually heavy rainfall, has caused the greatest flood in 25 years on the upper Monongahela. Weston and Gratton, W. Va., report streets inundated. Railroad tracks and business streets in Fayette City, Penn., are under 10 feet of water.

Sufficient warning of the flood in the Monongahela has been sent to the points by the Weather Bureau, and little damage is expected to result, even should the predicted stage be reached.

According to a statement issued today by a flood commission, appointed by the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, the loss from floods in Pittsburg in the past 10 years, was $12,000,000. The flood area within the city limits is computed at 1540 acres.

The Monongahela river reached its high point at 10 this morning at 222 feet, and an hour later had fallen two tenths of a foot. The Allegheny river, which is falling, and for the present all fears of a heavy flood in the Ohio river have passed.

CRUEL AND UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT

There is a proposition in Congress to put a Federal extinguisher on Delaware's whipping post, on the ground that lashing on the bare back is one of the "cruel and unusual punishments" which are prohibited by the eighth amendment in the national constitution.

The whipping post is barbarous, but it would be interesting to know how the United States courts, which would have to settle the matter, could pronounce a punishment "cruel and unusual" which may lawfully be inflicted by parents upon their own children.

This form of barbarism has been eliminated from the lives of most Americans by the spontaneous growth of intelligence, of the citizen's sense, and of the spirit of humanity. Its public infliction survives only in that little eddy and backwater of the American stream known as Delaware.

When the fathers adopted the eighth amendment, they would never have thought of the whipping post as "cruel and unusual." It was a very usual affair in those days. But the progress of humanity has made many common proceedings of 1791 quite uncommon and indefensible now. It is the sentiment of today, not that of the eighteenth century, with which any official proceeding of the present time must be equated.

The Delaware people say that the whipping post has the effect to keep thieves out of their state. This may be true, but what do the people of the adjoining states say about that? Do they like to be made a refuge for Delaware's thieves and other criminals? Perhaps the Constitution does not guarantee unrestrained interstate commerce in criminals, but equity suggests that it ought to.—From the New York Mail.

PREHISTORIC VEGETABLES

When the Neolithic invaders from Asia had driven the Palaeolithic hunters of Europe before them, at the edge of the axe of polished stone the mode of life of the Continent began to change. The Palaeolithic tribes had been hunters; the Neolithic men were a pastoral race and having found countries convenient for settlement they became sedentary and grew their provisions by their doors. Thus it is to the Neolithic men that we owe probably domestic animals and the principal food plants. Schenk in "Prehistoric Switzerland" has recently collected the evidence for the first appearance of cultivated plants.

Of these corn is the most ancient or one of the most ancient. M. M. Diete and Boule have found examples of it in the well known deposits of Magdalen which marks the close of the chipped flint or Palaeolithic era. This prehistoric corn is identical with that still cultivated for straw plating in the Grunere valley in the Canton of Fribourg. Labrowski believes that this vegetable species is essentially of Asiatic origin. It must therefore have been brought in by the narrow-headed Neolithic invaders. Elyptus, which has also been found among the fossils, remains. Barley is also fairly frequent; it is represented by six distinct varieties. Rye and oats on the other hand occur very rarely. Max is represented by a species different from that which is grown today though it still flourishes wild along the shores of the Mediterranean. The other plants whose prehistoric traces have come down to us were apparently gathered wild. Most of them were fruits out in quarters and dried; more especially apples and pears. Among the last named one Sorbus species still flourishing can be identified. But there seems to have been no cultivation of roots; they were eaten so to speak by the way.—The London Post.

SAVING TIME IN EDUCATION

There is a waste of at least two years in the present plan of American education. This is the conclusion reached by a committee of prominent educators in a report of Economy of Time in Education, just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. The conclusion follows an investigation lasting nearly ten years by a committee of the National Education Association of which James H. Baker of the University of Colorado is chairman. The committee have endeavored to form a plan that would do away with the two year loss. They propose that six years be assigned to the elementary school instead of 8 as at present; that the high school period be from age 12 to 18, divided into two parts of four and two years each; that college work extend from 18 to 20 or 16 to 20, according to the method of distributing the last two secondary years, and that graduate or professional work at a university cover two years from 20 to 24. This would enable boys and girls to get ample vocational training after the age of 12; it would enable those who go on to college to get through their college work at the age of 20; and it would save the professional man from having to wait until 27 to start his professional career.

The report insists that the present elementary course is too long, that the ground now covered in eight years can be covered just as efficiently in six, allowing secondary work to begin at the age of 12. To save on elementary schooling they urge: Choose the most important subjects and the most important topics; make a distinct between first rate facts and principles and tenth rate. Confine the period of elementary education to mastering the tools of education, include the last two years of the present elementary school in the period of secondary education and begin the study of foreign language, elementary algebra, and history two years earlier than at present.

ONE-THIRD SHOULD BE FORESTS

Washington, Nov. 17.—From one-fifth to one-third of the United States must be devoted to forests, if proper stream flow and the prevention of the "washing" of the soil are to be brought about, in the opinion of a special committee on forestry, which will report to the fifth annual convention of the National Conservation Congress.

This announcement was made today by the Federal Forest Service.

"Forests must be protected," the committee says forth, "not so much in localities that already suffer from lack of moisture as in regions which lie in the path of prevailing winds and which are still abundantly supplied both with ground water and precipitation."

Under present conditions, the committee sees peril to the grainy of the continent.

"Where the clearing of the trees in the Atlantic and Gulf Coast states is a necessity," the committee states, "it should be done only under the condition that the cleared land is to be devoted to intensive cultivation, as after forests, crops contribute to the moisture of the air."

The committee will advance the theory that as forests give off much more moisture than water surfaces of equal area, the prevention of arable land being rendered impossible of cultivation lies with the retention of wooded lands. Planting of trees around cultivated fields will be recommended, as aiding in advancing their agricultural possibilities.

EARLY MORNING CHURCH WEDDING

Mrs. Mary Leary Becomes the Bride of Hugh McDonald.

At the appointed hour of 7.30 this morning the wedding ceremony of Mrs. Mary Leary and Hugh McDonald was solemnized at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. Father Edward J. Walsh performing the ceremony.

The bride was attractively dressed in a neat blue tailor-made suit, white hat with shaded plumes and was attended by her cousin, Miss Helen Campbell, who wore navy blue suit with hat of same color. The best man was Mr. Douglas McDonald, cousin of the groom.

Following the nuptial mass a reception and wedding breakfast was held at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. William Mott, at 285 Hanover street. The menu embraced the following toothsome dishes: Roast chicken, cold meats, mashed potatoes, squash, cranberry sauce, celery, hot rolls, salads, pies, ice, cake, fruit and coffee.

The couple will reside at their newly furnished home at 5 Cornwell street. Both young people are very popular and heartiest wishes for a happy journey of life together extended by many friends. The groom is employed at the Morley button shop. The couple were the recipients of many pretty gifts, among which is a coach, given by the employees of the Morley button factory.

GIRLS' CLUB NOTES

Miss Elizabeth Toddlie who has been fittingly taught gymnastics in the Girls' Club for the past two years, has been obliged to give up her work with them, owing to the fact that she has had a very flattering offer from New Hampshire college to teach the young ladies there.

Miss Toddlie, who was graduated from Boston Gymnasium last June, will take Miss Toddlie's place, and will carry on immediately the same line of work. Miss Swenson comes to us highly recommended and will teach both gymnastics and folk dancing.

Don't forget the baked bean supper on Saturday night from 5 to 7. All business men and girls are requested to drop in and take supper.

The classes will meet regularly this week. It is hoped that more girls will take advantage of the literature and shorthand classes; no extra charge for either class.

The first dancing party will be held on Saturday night.

Startling revelations, ingenious machinations and overwhelming climaxes crowd fast in thrilling succession; and through it all the mystery and fascination of the world that lives under cover.

Mr. Dixey is ably supported by LAURA SAWYER and HOUSE PETERS. The patrons will remember House Peters in his masterful support of Mary Pickford—"In the Bishop's Carriage."

After having knowledge of this fact imparted from such a source, we shall certainly have to brush up on our history and geography.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD SOCIAL

Enjoyable Time Given by the Alliance Connected With the Unitarian Church.

The young people of the Christian church gave a social Monday evening at the chapel on Court street. It was well attended by old and young, seventy-five being present. An interesting program was given, which was a Virola recital, including selections of both classical and humorous characters, among them being grand opera music sung by Tetrazzini, Benbrich, Shumann-Helk, Caruso and others, also instrumental music, notably Sousa's band and a very beautiful rendering of one of Mischka Elman's violin solos.

Many thanks are due to T. W. Penbody to whose courtesy this enjoyment was due.

Delicious refreshments of ice cream, homemade cake and coffee were served by the young ladies, Mrs. John Leighton serving at the coffee table with Misses Mildred Poyser, Ruth B. Leighton and Mrs. Harry Torrey as assistants. Miss Ruth B. Leighton was chairman of the young people's social.
